

Community Concerned

Local communities, farmers, Elders, women and youth group involved in the water management and processes of this traditional knowledge.

It practiced in high altitude mountainous areas of Gilgit Baltistan, implemented occasionally in water stressed areas and it is practiced seasonally in winters. Once per year depending on climate conditions.